The UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples (2007)

- A “resolution” of the General Assembly adopted by vote as contrasted with a “treaty”, adopted by agreement and ratified by home countries

- Offers an authoritative expression of a global consensus on minimum standards for universal human rights in the Indigenous Peoples’ context

- U.S. expressed support for the Declaration in 2010. United States State Department, Announcement of U.S. Support (2011)

Muscogee Creek Nation – translates and adopts the Declaration as tribal law (2016)

“WHEREAS, the translation of the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples into Mvskoke language is an exercise of the Nation’s sovereign rights with the ultimate goal of removing the legal and cultural obstacles that prevent the Muscogee people from continuing their traditional and ceremonial life.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT, the Muscogee (Creek) Nation hereby adopts the attached Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.”
Tribal courts have jurisdiction over significant territories – to the extent tribes (like MCN) have adopted the Declaration, their courts can monitor implementation of Indigenous rights.

Gila River Indian Community Council Approves Resolution Which Ratifies the UN Declarations on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples

GILA RIVER INDIAN COMMUNITY, ARIZONA -- On Wednesday May 2, 2008 the Gila River Indian Community Council approved Resolution GR-126-08 which ratifies the United Nations Declarations on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. This hallmark move of commitment and solidarity with Indigenous Peoples worldwide makes the Gila River Indian Community the first federally recognized tribal nation within the United States to embrace, support and ratify the United Nations Declarations on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples.

Pawnee Nation Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples Act

1. It shall be the policy of the Pawnee Nation of Oklahoma to ensure that future Tribal statutes, rules, regulations, and policies are consistent with the UNDRIP standards.
2. The Pawnee Nation’s Governing Documents Committee shall conduct a one-year evaluation of existing Tribal statutes, rules, regulations, and policies in consultation with the Attorney General to determine whether appropriate changes are necessary to align Tribal law and policy with the standards of the UNDRIP.
3. The Pawnee Nation calls upon the United States and State of Oklahoma to implement the UNDRIP provisions into their laws and policies.
4. The Pawnee Nation requests the President of the United States to develop a national plan to implement the UNDRIP in partnership and consultation with Tribal Nations, Alaska Natives, and Native Hawaiians.
Navajo Nation Human Rights Commission (2006-present)

“The Commission was established to collect data regarding discriminatory acts against citizens of the Navajo Nation by private citizens, businesses, organizations and foreign governments within and outside the Navajo Nation.”

NNHRC draws cites sources of law including the Declaration and Navajo law, particularly the Diné principles of Sa’ a Naaghai Bik’e Hozhoo, Hashkéejí, Hózhóójí and Ké: “being resilient, content, disciplined and maintaining peaceful relationships with all creation.

Non-discrimination: Ho-Chunk Tribal Code, Tit 7, Sec. 4 (2015)

... formally adopts the following rights and measures as outlined [in] the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples which include:

- The right to be educated in our Native Tongue, the Ho-Chunk Language. The right to have the Ho-Chunk Language recognized in the Ho-Chunk Nation Constitution and laws of the Ho-Chunk Nation. The right to live free from discrimination on the grounds of the Ho-Chunk Language. (Declaration Arts 13 and 14)

AND

“declares all persons within our tribal jurisdiction belonging to non-Ho-Chunk racial, ethnic, political or linguistic minorities shall not be denied the right to enjoy their own culture, practice their own religion, or use their own language. (ICCPR Art 27)
